

Our Statement of Philosophy

At Campbelltown Preschool, we stand on the traditional lands of the Kurna people, and we pay our respects to their elders, past, present, and emerging. We recognise and value the rich cultural heritage of the Indigenous Australians and strive to create an environment that reflects the principles of reconciliation and Indigenous Australian ways of knowing.

Our philosophy is strongly influenced by the belief that play is the foundation of a child's learning journey. We are committed to providing a nurturing and vibrant environment where children can explore, create, and discover in an atmosphere that encourages curiosity and self-expression. Through intentional play-based experiences, we aim to inspire a love for learning that will serve as a foundation for a lifetime of intellectual and emotional growth.

Our dedicated team of teachers and educators understand the significance of their role as facilitators in the learning process. By carefully planning and creating a supportive environment, we empower children to make choices, solve problems and develop essential social and cognitive skills. We believe in fostering a sense of autonomy, self-confidence and decision-making in each child, promoting both individual and group learning experiences.

Inclusivity is at the heart of our values. We celebrate the uniqueness of each child and their family, recognising the diverse backgrounds, abilities, and intelligences they bring to our community. We actively encourage family participation and value the importance of family traditions.

By fostering a sense of 'Belonging, Being and Becoming' we aim to inspire our young learners to become active participants in their own education, nurturing their innate curiosity about the world and instilling a lifelong love for learning.

At Campbelltown Preschool we are dedicated to creating a harmonious and inclusive learning community that lays the foundation for a future generation of compassionate, open-minded, and confident individuals.
